

HIROSHI SAEKI

Consultant

Hiroshi Saeki is a consultant with Alpine International, specializing in assessing client needs through human resources consulting and designing solutions including training programs, outplacement, identification of corporate board candidates and upper and middle management. Mr. Saeki also provides general consulting services with the goal of helping organizations improve their communications and the way they do business.

Mr. Saeki brings a uniquely broad and diverse range of understanding to Alpine International, having management and front-line experience at a number of companies across a variety of businesses. He brings knowledge and skills together from the financial, auto, IT, earthmoving, dental, waste management and human resources industries. Mr. Saeki has opened branch offices in Japan of international organizations, gaining firsthand experience of the challenges of bringing cultures together.

Early in his career, Mr. Saeki held several positions with World Securities Company Limited and maintains his Series 7 securities license in Japan. He also held the titles of sales manager, accounts manager and territory manager at diverse companies, giving him exposure to many disciplines such as operations, administration, customer service, and inventory control.

- M.B.A., American Graduate School of International Management, USA
- B.A. in Economics, Kanto Gakuin University, Japan

Languages: Japanese, English

