Consultant

Joe Peters is a consultant with Alpine International specializing in cultural awareness. In this role, Joe uses his significant experience gleaned from years of experience working with international organizations in developing and leading multicultural teams.

With his international training experience in leadership and change management for executives from around the world, Joe has provided coaching and training for expats, outplacement, career counseling, intercultural training as well as spousal assistance. Other specializations include consulting, people development, recruiting; product development; as well as marketing and distribution.

Though a native American, Joe speaks fluent Japanese and for more than 32 years, he has worked with global businesses in several countries with a focus on Asia. Joe has lived in Japan, Singapore, as well as Malaysia, and has managed people in the United States and nine countries around Asia. He held senior leadership roles with companies such as AXA Life, AIG, Mutual of Omaha, Cigna, and MetLife. Among his many successes and achievements, Joe is particularly proud of taking the organization of which he was president and CEO from 32 to 145 associates and from the number 12 to number 4 insurance company in Singapore.

Joe eagerly shares his expertise with social/professional organizations, serving as chair of the American Chamber of Commerce in Japan's direct marketing committee, president of Tokyo American Club Toastmasters, and as a professional associate with the Foreign Correspondents Club of Japan.
