

KOSUKE ISHIKAWA

Consultant

Kosuke Ishikawa is a consultant with Alpine International specializing in human resources, business start-up, as well as training and development. In his role, Mr. Ishikawa applies his extensive education and background as a human resources professional and consultant to both the theoretical and practical side of the personnel equation. He has published a number of articles on the subject for various trade publications.

In his own consultancy practice, Mr. Ishikawa designed and implemented in-house training and development systems for clients representing diverse industries: apparel, building materials, manufacturers of hard goods as well as consumer products, high-tech, telecommunications, transportation, restaurants and myriad services. He also created and operated human resources systems for several employers.

Prior to founding his own business, Mr. Ishikawa worked in sales, marketing, management and human resources for a number of highly respected companies, including Accenture, Legg Mason, AC Nielson, Manulife, Coors and Isuzu. Mr. Ishikawa also maintains membership status with the Italian Chamber of Commerce.

- M.B.A., Wake Forest University, USA
- B.A. in Management, Gakushuin University, Japan
- Certified Translator, Japan Translation Federation

Languages: Japanese, English

