

LONE KANSTRUP

Consultant

Lone Kanstrup is a communication specialist with Alpine International specializing in marketing and sales. In her role, Lone uses broad-based talents, capabilities and education in intercultural marketing communications gained from her long and diverse career in the pharmaceutical industry.

Lone's experience in this industry began when she interned in the human resources department at Novo Nordisk. Over time, she rose through the marketing division ranks of corporate brand liaison manager, project manager and product manager to her most recent role as Global Communication Manager within the company's division devoted to the prevention and treatment of diabetes. She was entrenched in both the corporate and sales side of the company working on two continents, which resulted in Lone's unique perspectives from many vantage points – from working with researchers and healthcare professionals to senior corporate executives to boards of directors to the youths who use the company's product every day.

Originally from Denmark, Lone's native language is Dutch; she is also fluent in English and is competent in Spanish, German, French and Scandinavian languages. Since being in Japan, Ms. Kanstrup has embarked on Japanese studies.

- Studied Masters level Culture, Communication, and Globalization, Aarhus School of Business, Denmark
- B.A. in Intercultural Marketing Communications, Aarhus School of Business, Denmark
- Exchange Student, Bloomberg University, USA

Languages: Danish, English, Spanish, German, French

